David Albright joins UCare as Vice President, Chief Information Officer

Visionary leader to advance UCare's information technology strategy

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 23, 2017 – UCare has hired David Albright as the not-for-profit health plan's new Vice President and Chief Information Officer (CIO).

Prior to joining UCare, Albright was Vice President of Information Technology (IT) at Blue Cross Blue Shield of Minnesota, where he led all aspects of the IT division for three years. During a career spanning more than 20 years, he held senior-level data analytics and IT roles at Optum, Moneygram International, Inc. and Minnegasco.

Albright reports to Hilary Marden-Resnik, Senior Vice President and Chief Administrative Officer. In his new position, he provides vision and strategic direction for UCare's technology staff and systems to enable the health plan to efficiently and effectively serve members and business partners. He oversees all areas of IT operations including architecture, infrastructure, applications, web, security, quality assurance, data and service. Albright is responsible for establishing and implementing UCare's technology vision, strategy and roadmap in alignment with organizational strategies and priorities.

"Dave brings proven experience and leadership to the most senior IT role at UCare. He is expert at building strong partnerships, fostering engaged teams, enhancing processes and services, and implementing enterprise-wide technology efforts. What's more, he has a passion for UCare's mission and future success," said Marden-Resnik.

Albright is a Senn / Delaney Certified Trainer in Negotiations, Communications, Corporate Culture and Team and Relationship Building Methods, and has led numerous workshops across multiple organizations. He is a respected thought leader in the health care technology field, serving on several health care technology advisory councils, as well as the CIO Executive Council for the
